RFP TITLE: PROTEIN FORECAST REPORT

RFP CONTACT:
Name: Kristen Basala
Email: kbasala@ussec.org

PROPOSAL DEADLINE: March 5, 2021

INTRODUCTION:
Through a global network of international offices and strong support in the U.S., USSEC differentiates and build preference for U.S. soybeans and soybean products, advocates for the use of soy in livestock and aquaculture feed and human consumption, promotes the benefits of soy use through education and connects industry leaders through a robust membership program. Understanding the current and forecasted crude protein levels for U.S. soy and other origins will inform USSEC’s future work in this regard.

PURPOSE OF RFP:
USSEC seeks a contractor to produce a narrative report on the following: 1) forecast of the crude protein levels for U.S. soy, Brazilian soy, Argentinian soy, and Canadian canola through 2030; 2) analysis of the forecast’s implications for the global competitive positioning of U.S. soy, the comparative costs for metabolizable protein, and trends in the value of the U.S. soy energy component; and 3) insights on market preferences for natural versus synthetic amino acids. The contractor will use their own data or obtain data from publicly-available sources.

BACKGROUND & PURPOSE OF PROJECT:
One of the chief value differentiators of soy is its crude protein level. USSEC is working to change the industry’s view of valuing soy based upon crude protein levels. Past research showed that between 2000-2015 crude protein levels from all major soy origins had been declining, calling into question the industry’s long held practice of valuing soy on crude protein levels. USSEC needs to have this research validated and updated. Reports on world protein production and demand will assist USSEC in forecasting and planning for the future.

TARGET AUDIENCE:
The initial primary audience is the USSEC Market Development team. Depending on the outcome of the research, the audience may expand to investors and end users.
SCOPE (SERVICES) OF WORK:

- Produce a narrative report (Word format) with data, references, graphs, and analysis according to the following outline:
  - Executive Summary highlighting key findings from each section
  - Recent and current (2016-present) crude protein levels (CPLs) for U.S. soy, Brazilian soy, Argentinian soy, and Canadian canola
  - Forecasts of crude protein levels through 2030 based on recent trends for U.S. soy, Brazilian soy, Argentinian soy, and Canadian canola
  - Implications for U.S. soybeans’ global competitive positioning.
    - What are the impacts on the prices U.S. exporters will be able to achieve relative to Brazil?
  - Comparative costs for metabolizable protein in the U.S., E.U., and China
  - Trends in the value of U.S. soy’s energy component. This will include insights into the growing importance of the energy component in U.S. soy as costs in diets increase and the implications of this for the U.S. soy competitive advantage as compared to Brazil.
  - Market preferences for natural versus synthetic amino acids
- Produce a summary PowerPoint presentation with highlights of findings on each of the topics listed above.

ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATION (if applicable)

Contractors are expected to use their own data or obtain data from publicly-available sources.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION AND BACKGROUND

BUILDING A PREFERENCE FOR U.S. SOY

USSEC’s strategy can be found here: http://ussec.org/about-ussec/vision-mission/
USB’s Long Range Strategic Plan can be found here: http://unitedsoybean.org/about-usb/strategic-planning/

We are a dynamic partnership of key stakeholders representing soybean producers, commodity shippers, merchandisers, allied agribusiness and agricultural organizations.

Through a global network of international offices and strong support in the U.S., we help build a preference for U.S. soybeans and soybean products, advocate for the use of soy in feed, aquaculture and human consumption, promote the benefits of soy use through education and connect industry leaders through a robust membership program.

Our 15-member board of directors is comprised of four members from the American Soybean Association (ASA), four members from the United Soybean Board (USB), and seven members representing trade, allied industry, and state organizations.

New board members are seated annually. We are receiving funding from a variety of sources including soy producer checkoff dollars invested by the USB and various state soybean councils; cooperating industry; and the American Soybean Association’s investment of cost-share funding provided by the United States Department of Agriculture’s (USDA) Foreign Agriculture Service.

The United Soybean Board, created by the 1990 Farm Bill to manage and direct the National Soybean Checkoff, is dedicated to marketing and research for the soybean industry. USB is comprised of 73 volunteer soybean farmers representing the interests of fellow growers nationwide. Each board member is nominated by Qualified State Soybean Boards (QSSBs) and appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Because of the limitations on administrative and salary costs established in the Act, USB outsources the majority of its program management responsibilities to USB’s three primary contractors:

- SmithBucklin-St. Louis for domestic marketing, new uses, production research and Board initiative activities;
- Osborn & Barr Communications for communications/public relations activities and;
- U.S. Soybean Export Council (USSEC), Inc. for international marketing and global opportunities activities.

As one of these three primary contractors USSEC may also undertake initiative activities on behalf of USB. USB considers primary contractor staff (approximately 60 people) as core USB staff. These three primary contractors use a number of subcontractors and, together, these entities carry out approximately 450 projects each year for USB. USB also manages approximately 10 subcontractors.
